

	concrete noun	abstract noun	verb	adjective	adverb
-zakwaterować	house /haʊs/	housing /haʊzɪŋ/	house /haʊz/ p.71
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>To provide a place for somebody to live</li> <li>The fish can be temporarily housed in a smaller aquarium.</li> </ul>
-krytyka	critic, critique	criticism /krɪtɪsɪzəm/ p.82	critique	critical	critically
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>adv: permanently, temporarily, individually, separately, adequately, badly</li> <li>To express disapproval of something or somebody.</li> <li>The government has received a lot of criticism for (not providing) enough benefits for the elderly.</li> <li>v: receive, come in for</li> <li>adj: heavy, severe, fierce, constructive</li> <li>G: ... criticism for raising taxes; criticism for its plan (to build); criticism over the decision (to spend)</li> <li>F: ... come under heavy criticism for (not providing); the same criticism has been levelled at...</li> </ul>
-sukcess		success /sək'ses/ p.101 (failure)	succeed /sək'si:d/ (fail)	successful /sək'sesfl/	successfully unsuccessful unsuccessfully
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>the fact that you have achieved something that you want and have been trying to do or get</li> <li>He attributes his success to having a stable family life.</li> <li>v: achieve, attain, enjoy</li> <li>adj: enormous, great, immense</li> <li>G: (a great) chance of success; a hope of success; confident of success</li> <li>F: immensely successful as a (composer)</li> </ul>
-przestępstwo	criminal	crime /kraɪm/			criminally
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>activities that involve breaking the law</li> <li>He turned to crime when he dropped out of school.</li> <li>v: investigate, witness, solve, confess to, convict/acquit [someone] of a crime</li> <li>adj: appalling, awful, grave, heinous, serious, unspeakable</li> <li>G: be [accused of/charged with] a crime; plead [guilty/not guilty] to a crime</li> </ul>				